

REMARKS

The word "structure" in the preamble of each of method Claims 125 and 128 has been corrected to "method". No other changes have been made to the claims. Accordingly, Claims 17 - 130 continue to be pending.

As mentioned in the remarks to the 17 January 2005 Amendment, the logical structure of the claims is somewhat difficult to see due to the various amendments by which new claims have been added. To facilitate examination of the application, enclosed as Appendix A is an updated list in which the claims are grouped in logical, rather than numerical, order. Method claims having structure counterparts are generally located directly after the structure counterparts in the updated version of Appendix A.

In response to the Office Action mailed 18 November 2004, the 17 January 2005 Amendment presented reasons why all of pending Claims 17 - 130 are patentable over the applied art. Claims 17 - 130 should be allowed for the reasons presented in the 17 January 2005 Amendment so that the application may proceed to issue.
